ANNOUNCED UNCLE SAM WILL PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN AFFAIRS OF MONGOLIA.

NOTES MADE PUBLIC

Secretary of State Knox Had Corresponded With European Powers on Subject.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—Secretary Knox's note to the German ambassador, just made public, is taken to be the preliminary of an expected exchange of notes between the United States and Germany, Great Britain, France, Japan and Russia, which would be of immense importance in placing all those powers on record for concerted action and a common understanding in the protection of the integrity of China.

While the note is addressed to the German ambassador, copies have been sent to all the other powers named. "There has thus far, happily, been no reason for interference on the part of foreign powers, inasmuch as both imperialism and republicanism have guaranteed the life and property of the foreign population, and the latest reports tend to strengthen the belief that it is improbable that future developments will necessitate such interference," says Secretary Knox.

The remainder of the note says in part: "In reply to your note of the 31st ult., requesting information as to the attitude of the government of the United States with regard to conditions in China, I have the honor to state that where the hegemony of the present administration, this government has, from time to time, on occasion, exchanged views with the other interested powers—particularly Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and Russia—as to what course was expedient for the protection of the common interests.

"From these exchanges it has been quite clear that all the powers concerned were as one as to the wisdom of maintaining the policy of concerted action in the circumstances.

"This unanimity of view found concrete example in the note presented by the representatives of France, Great Britain, Germany, Japan and Russia and the United States, simultaneously to the peace commissioners at Shanghai on December 20th, as well as in the co-operative measures taken for the protection of their common interests throughout China.

"The advice received by this government, moreover, show that the other governments concerned have likewise had similar exchanges of view and that official statements of policy to the same effect have appeared in the public press of the various countries.

"It is evident, therefore, to this government that all the powers have, up to the present, by common consent, not only refrained from independent action and from intervening in China's internal affairs, but have acted in accord with their mutual assurance that they would respect its integrity and sovereignty.

"If, however, contrary to all expectations, any further steps should prove necessary, this government is firm in the conviction that the policy of concerted action, after full consultation by the powers, should be maintained and would be maintained in order to exclude, from the beginning, all possible misunderstanding.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 8.—Carl Heck, the Wisconsin student who wrote "On Wisconsin," the varsity song, blames a rapidly expanding university and a larger inflow of the leisure class for the decadence of the real "Wisconsin spirit." The latter is the hardest to reach, he says.

"Greater emphasis is being put on clothes and more time and more money are being put into 'dandy-stuff' than ever before at Wisconsin. It is being observed that society 'stunts' and dances consume more time of more men than ever before, with the result that many men are 'broke' and have not the price of admission to a debate or a concert or a basketball game. It is further being observed that loafing is a great time-killer and a great consumer of energy for men who don't know what to do, and those who don't want to do, and those who are the types that contribute almost wholly to the 'con' aggregation. Men active in university life have sense and initiative work of study. We find, then, lack of initiative and a lack of spirit of service to organizations, to the student body and to Wisconsin as the shameful situation facing us."

"Mr. Morse has nothing to say, because he wants to get out of the line of light as quickly as possible," said Dr. Fowler. "I do not know where he will go when he reaches New York, but within ten days he will sail for Germany to take the cure at Bad-Naheim. He seems to be in fair condition and good spirit."

BIG RIVER IN SPAIN IS RAGING TORRENT; DEVASTATES COUNTRY

Tague's Floods Country, Carrying Cities and Towns into Sea—Help Unable to Reach Sufferers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Lisbon, Feb. 8.—The number of victims of floods in Portugal is not yet known, but it will be large. Large numbers of injured are being cared for in hospitals in the flooded districts. The river Tague is a raging torrent and is carrying seaward much debris of all kinds.

Many barges which were anchored in the navigable section of the Tague were sunk at the first flux of the flood current, and others were swept seaward with a great mass of debris from the upper part of the river, including uprooted trees and the bodies of cattle and other livestock.

Towns through the flooded district are in ruins and all communication by wire is severed. The chamber of commerce today voted $500,000 to the victims of the disaster.

In Spain, Feb. 8.—Serious floods are reported from all parts of Spain. Many rivers and smaller streams have overflowed their banks, inundating far into the country and all communication by water, rail or highway is interrupted, and this fact is preventing the dispatch of help to the stricken towns.

FARMERS ARE URGED TO START WOOLLOTS

State Forester Griffith, in Address to Board of Agriculture, Advises Farm Forestry.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 8.—State Forester E. M. Griffith advised Wisconsin farmers to start woodlots on their farms, estimating that the returns, as a long-time investment, will be from four to six per cent on the principal invested. He addressed the annual convention of the state board of agriculture last night on the subject of farm forestry.

"The woodlot," he said, "is of no less importance to the farmer in the southern part of the state than it is to the northern farmer who, perhaps, derives his largest and surest revenue from his woodlot. It is a valuable asset to any farm and daily growing more so, as the price of timber continues to rise with the decrease of the supply. With a good woodlot, a farmer may be entirely independent of the lumber market and may even derive a steady income from the sale of poles, posts, fuel, bark, etc., but it is a great mistake to think that a woodlot will take care of itself. With a very little thought and labor, a woodlot may be improving all the time instead of becoming less valuable."

Five of the best native trees, he said, which will do well in this state are the white pine, Norway spruce, white spruce, hemlock and balsamwood.

HOT CUSTARD PIES EFFECTIVE WEAPONS

Woman in Denver Restaurant Puts Robber to Flight With Pie Fresh From Oven.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Denver, Colo., Feb. 8.—A masked bandit came to grief early today when he was hit squarely in the face with a hot custard pie while he was looting a cash drawer in a downtown restaurant here. The robbery occurred at about four o'clock. Just as the robber entered the place Miss Ida Sonnet, in charge of the place at night, walked forward from the kitchen in the rear, in each hand she carried a steaming hot custard pie.

"Hold up your hands demanded the robber."

"I won't drop these pies for any villain like you," she said.

"Don't you move," the hold-up man said, as he turned toward the cash register.

The soft part of the hot pie struck him squarely. The robber dashed through the kitchen into a back alley and disappeared.

WINSTON CHURCHILL HOOTED IN BELFAST BY AN ARMED MOB

Orangemen Show Their Decided Disapproval of Appearance of English Statesman on Emerald Isle.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Belfast, Ireland, Feb. 8.—Winston Churchill first lord of the admiralty, the chief figure in today's home rule demonstration arrived this morning with his wife at the Central station and was given a somewhat mixed reception. A number of armed men who had gathered at the station greeted him with groans and boos but they were drowned by the hearty cheers of the large crowd of liberals and nationalists.

"There was no disturbance and the large force of policemen on duty in the station had a very easy task to perform. In the course of the morning a crowd of unionists paraded the streets carrying an effigy of Mr. Churchill to which was attached a placard bearing the words, 'Down with Churchill'—'No Home Rule.' They proceeded to the hotel where Mr. and Mrs. Churchill are staying, sang the national anthem after which they dispersed without order. There was no marked excitement among the workers of the city today.

Mr. Churchill and John E. Tedmond, the nationalist leader, reached the harbor safely. Their journey through the streets was marked by nothing more serious than outbreaks of groans and hisses.

Mr. Churchill was greeted by six thousand people gathered within the tent whose enthusiasm not even the depressing surroundings were able entirely to quench, while rain poured through the canvas a hand played 'The Weaving of the Green' and 'The Boys of Wexford.' Mr. Churchill immediately got on good terms with his audience, promising that the government intended to pass a home rule bill 'which would be harmonious with imperial interests, smooth the path of the British empire, liberate new forces for its service and forever do away with the cursed machinery by which hatred had been manufactured in the past.'

S. GOMPERS DEFENDS SPEECHES IN TRIAL

Labor Union Leader States That he Was Using Right of Free Speech

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Feb. 8.—"The speeches I made during 1908 were in support of the candidate and the party which promised the labor movement relief from the system of federal injunction which has grown up."

"They voted my political belief. I made those speeches because I believed in the right of free speech. If, because of the exercise of that right, I must go to jail—and I would feel the loss of my liberty keenly—I will face that jail sentence and will not flinch."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made that statement today in the supreme court of the District of Columbia, where he is on trial for contempt.

Young, accused of robbing her of $1,750 in the physician's office several months ago, the men were found guilty of the charge. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sutter Creek, Calif., Feb. 8.—Forty men are working rapidly to remove the debris choking the shaft of the Barker Hill mine today, to rescue sixty-two miners entombed by a cave-in yesterday at the mouth of the Illinois shaft.

Another possibility of escape was found by the imprisoned men in an abandoned tunnel about 200 feet level reached by an old shaft partially filled with debris. One of the men called through the air pipe that he had climbed to the tunnel and a crew was set at work clearing the earth and timber in the shaft and digging through a cave in the tunnel which blocked the exit.

Men Rescued. The 62 miners entombed in the Barker Hill mine at 1 o'clock yesterday in a cave-in in the mouth of the shaft were rescued at 12 o'clock today after a night of hard work by miners from nearby mines. None of the men was injured.

The pedestrians ran for their lives. The stone crashed to the pavement and broke into a hundred pieces.

LOCAL FOOTBALL MEN
MUCH INTERESTED INChange of Rules for the Coming Year.—Opinion is it Will Injure Teams.

Each year the wise men of the football world make new rules, change old ones and otherwise tangle up the situation throughout the country at large. Janesville football fans will be interested in the proposed changes which briefly are as follows:

- 1.—The playing field, now 110 yards in length, will be shortened to an even 100 yards. This change in itself is not vital, but is made in order to make possible on small grounds an extension of the territory in which the forward pass may be used.
- 2.—A zone, ten yards in width, beyond the goal line is established. The purpose of this is to provide ample space for the execution of the forward pass, and according to a pass made across the goal line into this zone is permitted.
- 3.—The number of "downs" in which the ball is increased to five. The number of "downs" in which the ball is increased to five.
- 4.—The onside kick is eliminated.
- 5.—The value of a touchdown is increased from five to six points, the goal from touchdown and other scores standing as at present.
- 6.—The twenty yard zone in which the present rules provide restrictions on interference with the forward pass, is eliminated so that the restrictions will apply now to any part of the field.
- 7.—After a touch back the ball will be kept in play from the twenty yard line instead of the twenty-five yard line.
- 8.—On a kickoff, the ball instead of being put in play in the center of the field will be put in play from the forty yard line of the team kicking it off. Taking into consideration the shortening of the field, the kickoff distance is lengthened by five yards.
- 9.—The field judge is eliminated. The head linesman hereafter will keep time and be judge of scrimmage.
- 10.—The number of men allowed on the side lines will be reduced from three to one for each team.
- 11.—Provision will be made that a bounding ball cannot score a legitimate goal.
- 12.—The interval between the first and second and the third and fourth periods is reduced from two minutes to one minute.

Y. M. C. A. READY FOR HARD GAME TONIGHT

Will Play Washington Alumni of Madison at "Y" Tonight.—Intermediates Defeat Edgerton.—Brooklyn Head Here Tomorrow.

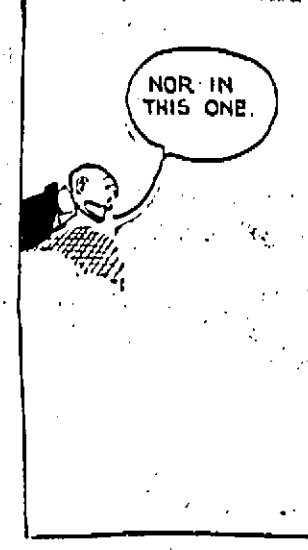

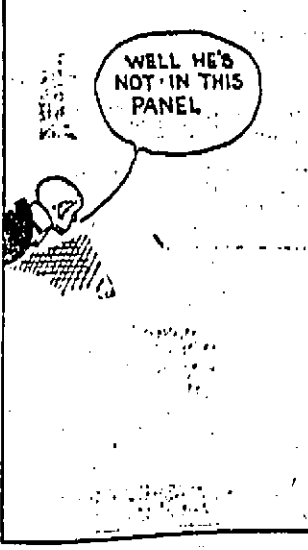

Tonight at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium the Senior First team will meet the Washington Alumni team of Madison in what will probably be the hardest game of the season for them. The Madison bunch, so far this season, has not been defeated and if the Janesville boys are able to win a victory from them it will be a big feather in their caps. While the "Y" team has been defeated more than once this season, they have shown signs of having the material for an excellent team, their defeats having come mostly from their inability to get in enough hard practice together before the game. This fact, added to the illness of a number of the regular players at different times during the season, has seriously handicapped the lads. For this game, however, every one of the old players is in first class condition and a course of hard practice has put them in such good shape that they are looking forward to a victory from the Alumni. Koch is back at forward, after an enforced vacation and is getting in some of his usual good work. Wilson, McDonald, Brown and Mott will play the other positions. A series of minor illnesses have interfered considerably with the team during the last few weeks, but the entire team is reported in the best condition which it has been in this season in preparation for the hardest game of the season.

Previous to the big game a contest is billed for the first and second Junior teams which played before. The youngsters put up some lively and interesting battles.

Intermediates Defeat Edgerton. Again the Y. M. C. A. Intermediates were successful in securing the large end of a 28 to 12 score in a hard, close game with Edgerton high school. Janesville was given considerable consolation during the first half, but ran away with their opponents in the second and outplayed them on all sides. Much of Janesville's success was due to the perfection with which their plays worked throughout the game and a large per centage of their scores were made by fast team work on the plays. Physical Director Hartwell was unable to accompany the team this time, but Captain Sautman, who did not play last night, acted as referee for the "Y" boys in his place.

During the first half before the Janesville boys got really warmed up the playing was pretty close and the half ended with a score of 10 to 6 in their favor. Edgerton players in this part of the game than at any time later and the home team made a better attempt to keep up the fast pace which they set than they did in the last half. Knudsen, Atwood and Cunningham all played excellent ball from the very first and their floor work was one of the features of the first part.

Before the Edgerton boys were aware that the whistle had blown for the second half the visitors rushed them off their feet and got a good start toward the lead which they ended with. Knudsen at guard came back so strong that the Edgerton forwards were unable to even throw a basket. While he was holding down the Edgerton forwards, Atwood was starting at the other end of the floor, making a total of four baskets during the game. Dill-ton and Stewart played good games throughout, the former getting one basket and the latter two. Altogether the team showed up in fine form and if they keep up their record so far will make some of the older teams rue to beat them. The lineups and scores:

JANESVILLE EDGERTON

Stewart, 2; Cunningham, 3; Knudsen, 2; Ogle, 2; Dalton, 1; Moore, 1; Williams, 1; Free throws, Dalton, 3; Cunningham, 2; C. Ogle, 2; Moore, 1; Atwood, 1. Offense—Sautman and Jensen.

Brookhead Plays Tomorrow.
Tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock the Janesville basketball team will play an aggregation from Brookhead to decide which school shall be represented at Appleton in the championship games. Janesville has never won a state championship and this year they are out for blood with the intention of winning the first one ever brought to this city. While they have defeated the Brookhead boys last year, reports given them credit for having the best team they have had for years and although the local boys made up their minds to win they expect a much harder fight this year than last. The last and Albany have both fallen in defeat before the terrible onslaught of the high school team within the last two weeks and the form which the boys displayed in these games encourages the fans who witnessed the games and raised their hopes for a championship team sky high.

All of the players are in excellent condition and will line up with Cunningham and Korst at forward; V. Humming at center; and Miller and Edler in the guard positions.

DEVOTEES OF TENNIS
AT ANNUAL MEETING

Representatives of Several Hundred Clubs Gather at Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

New York, Feb. 8.—Representatives of the several hundred prominent tennis clubs and associations throughout the country are arriving from all directions to attend the thirty-first annual meeting of the United States National Tennis Association to be held tomorrow at the Waldorf-Astoria in this city. The meeting promises to be one of unusual interest and importance to all devotees of the game. The awarding of the championships for 1912 is one of the first matters to be taken up at the meeting. The effort to take the big tournament away from Newport, where the event has been held regularly for a number of years, will be renewed. The Point Judith Country Club of Narragansett Pier will make a strong bid for both the singles and doubles events. Philadelphia will also be a factor, and the Merion Cricket Club of Haverford and the Germantown Club will enter the field if the decision is against Newport. Another important matter to engage the attention of the meeting is the proposed adoption of new rules to govern the ranking Committee.

A successor of James Dwight of Boston, the veteran president of the association, who has declined to stand for re-election. Among those prominently mentioned to succeed him are William A. Larned, the present champion, and Henry W. Slocum, a former champion and president.

ON SATURDAY NEXT

Local Boy Enthusiasts Plan for Exciting Contests This Week.—Many Will Enter.

During the past three winters the boys of Janesville have taken considerable interest in ski-jumping. Many have purchased their skis and others are home-made, but they work just as well. Several hills have been utilized for the purpose of slides and some short jumps have been installed. On Saturday next it has been decided to hold an open tournament and all boys who desire to enter are invited to hand their names to Cotton Snyler or Tracey Allen. A line slide is anticipated. Already a number of entries have been made and it is expected there will be fully fifty boys competing.

ASTHMA ATTACKS
QUICKLY STOPPED

CHRONIC AILMENT OF EIGHT YEARS CURED BY UNITED DOCTORS IN TEN WEEKS.

COUGHED CONSTANTLY FOR EIGHT YEARS.

Mrs. J. W. Farrell Could Not Sleep at Night Owing to Recurring Attacks.

There are many sufferers of that terrible disease called asthma throughout this world. Mrs. J. W. Farrell of 1016 West Bridge St., Streator, Ill., is but one of them and her experience in seeking a cure tells a story often repeated of the wonderful cures accomplished by the United Doctors who have their Janesville Institute in the Hayes Bldg., corner of Milwaukee and Main Sts. Mrs. Farrell's statement is as follows:

May 4, 1911.

Dear Doctors and the Public: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma for the last eight years and have been in misery all of the time. I have had attacks after attacks and found no relief from this condition all this time, although I doctored with several local doctors and also with doctors out of town. I was in such bad shape that I could not go out nights for the night air caused me more than ever to suffer. Seldom could I sleep for night seemed to make my condition such that I lay awake most of the time.

Ten weeks ago I went to the United Doctors, and after having heard of their cures, and placed my case in their hands. Mine was a chronic case of eight years standing—and yet since I started the United Doctors' treatment I have had only one attack and feel fine. No one but a sufferer from asthma can fully realize what this means. Before starting their treatment I had only one attack. I am stating this publicly so those with asthma can know where to go for a cure after they have treated with others and failed to get relief.

"Sincerely," "MRS. J. W. FARRELL."

Other United Doctors treat among other diseases and ailments chronic and deep-seated diseases of the blood, nerves, kidneys, bladder, liver, heart, skin, spine, stomach, including rheumatism, neuritis, gall stones, colitis, paralysis, loss of nerve force, blood poison, eczema, scrofula, indigestion and dyspepsia.

Team is one of the best in the city of Chicago and has made an excellent record in the Windy City since the season started. The Cardinals are putting forth an extra effort to get into first class shape for this game so that they can put up a more successful fight than they did against the U. of W. Bulldogs last week.

YALE TRACK CAPTAIN
HANDSOMEST MAN

New Haven, Conn.—Robert A. Gardner of Chicago, national golf champion of 1909, intercollegiate polo vault, and captain of the Yale track team, has most voted the handsomest man and most versatile member of the Senior class at Yale. Gardner comes from an athletic family and is regarded as one of the most remarkable collegiate athletes today.

THEATERS

The person with an ambition to take a $10,000 world tour need not be disappointed if only half a dollar or less is available to gratify the desire for Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival which comes to the Myers Theatre, March 26 and 27, matinee on 27 can be depended on to present in one evening enough of foreign lands with their unfamiliar customs and scenery to compensate the many ungratified longings to see the world.

A hazardous climb to dizzy Alpine heights will be one of the many big features of the entirely new program. All the incidents of the expedition starting with a vertiginous ride in a car of the Cog Wheel Railway of Montreux and another on the Wetterhorn Suspension Railway will be shown. After the spectators can go no higher by mechanical means, they are compelled to forgo all thoughts of safety and comfort. The journey is resumed over snow-mountain chasms and icy ridges, where a misstep any moment would be fatal. Finally, they are rewarded by the rare sight of looking down upon a vast rolling sea of clouds and wonderful sunset and moonrise views over the glistening peaks.

The prestige attained by Mr. Howe's exhibition was officially recognized in a very complimentary way by the U. S. Government. One of the objects of the great Naval Review in New York harbor last November was an aroused greater pride and patriotism in our "navy navy." Believing that this should not be confined only to actual spectators of the review, the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. George von Meyer, was anxious that the country at large should benefit by the demonstration. He became convinced that no one uses the power that lies in animated photography to such great advantage as does Mr. Howe. Acting on this conviction, he granted Mr. Howe's camera men the very exclusive privilege of accompanying him on the U. S. S. Dolphin so that the three million "Howe travelers" throughout America might see the greatest naval review in American history at even closer range than the spectators that lined the banks or crowded excursion boats. The intimate scenes obtained from the deck of the Dolphin as the ship steamed past miles and miles of the very flower of the U. S. Navy on the tour of inspection, furnished a lesson of the efficiency of men, guns and machinery of our mighty war vessels that is of incalculable value. The combined power of the ships represented gives the beholder a fresh, vivid and entirely new conception of our country's resources and power. The ships, in their holiday dress, present a scene that is profoundly impressive, and this is further intensified at the thrilling climax when the stately procession moves at full speed out to sea in a driving gale and at the same time salutes directly in front of Mr. Howe's cameras.

Dissatisfied Long on Ancestors.

At a dinner party two or three men got into a somewhat tiresome talk about the antiquity of their families. Dissatisfied turned to a friend and said: "Think of these fellows talking about the antiquity of their families to me, whose ancestor was the accepted lover of the queen of Sheba."

Theft.

Whether we force the man's property from him by pinching his stomach, or pinching his fingers, makes some difference anatomically; morally, none whatever.—Itaska.

RUSH FOR GOLD TO MANITOBA.

Winnipeg, Manitoba.—The turkeys of Manitoba may not lay golden eggs but they do the next best thing in opening up what is probably the richest gold mine ever discovered in Canada and rivaling the famous Yukon. If a small percentage of the stories are to be believed which emanate from the new gold field at Manitoba.

The story of the discovery of this field is most unusual, and centers around the Christmas turkeys brought to market some weeks ago by a Manitoban farmer, George Elliott. For Christmas, Elliott brought a number of turkeys, and as a result of his first day's effort unearthed several nuggets, one weighing more than several ounces.

The rush is already on for the newly discovered fields. Men, women and children flock to Manitoba by the hundreds from all parts of Canada and the United States.

Manitoba is 238 miles northwest of here near the Porcupine Mountain, and is in a valley through which flow thousands of small streams from the mountain.

EVENT AT MADISON

Wisconsin Students Plan Most Distinctive Party in History of School Tomorrow Night

Madison, Wis., Feb. 8.—(Examination over the student body at the University of Wisconsin is under the premier event on the year's social calendar—the junior prom, tomorrow night. Three hundred and fifty couples, representative of nearly every state, will share in the festivities of the night and the round of receptions, dinners, sleighrides, matinee and dancing parties both to precede and follow. From London, Eng., has come Miss Marian Chester, who will be the guest of A. J. Williams, Milwaukee.

Distinctiveness is the foremost ambition of every prom committee, and the 1912 class claims many features of tomorrow's ball will surpass all others. First, Manville P. Hendrickson, Portland, Ore., is the first non-fraternity chairman in the history of the Wisconsin prom. Neither is his partner, Miss Avis Ring, of Nollville, Wis., a member of a Greek letter society. Prom week is officially six hours longer than others have been. Heretofore the junior class play has followed the prom; this year it precedes it and will be held tonight. Officially the prom week began this noon and will end at 6 o'clock Sunday night.

Johnny Hand's Chicago Orchestra will be concealed in the suspended bandstand behind a bank of palms and amylax lilies work. The patron's box will be at the north end of the hall, and will be raised upon a dais above the level of the dancing floor. Supper will be served in three courses in the new annex in the armory, and the occasion will serve to dedicate it to public use. The ballroom decorations will be in green and white, arranged to give elaborate and pleasing effects. The ceiling will be formed of a white background with sprays of live amylax outlined over the surface. The boxes arranged around the hall will be set off by white pillars outlined with amylax and joined by a white pergola effect. Twenty-seven box parties will be provided for.

A large number of farmers are expected to enter grain exhibits, but those who do not are asked to attend the show, see the grains, and hear what the experts from the agricultural department of the university have to say regarding the Rock county grain. Henry Taylor and Willard Austin, members of the committee of the local association who have the show in charge, will be at the city hall at seven o'clock Saturday morning to receive the entries in the exhibition. Prof. Gruber, a grain expert of the agricultural school and two assistants will be here at ten o'clock Saturday morning to take charge of the judging of the grain and will give several addresses on the matter of seed selection, cultivation of grain, and the value of pedigree grain. WISCONSIN HAS SUFFERED SERIOUS DEBATING SLUMP

Professor Rolfe Lyman, Writes of Conditions and Outlines Several Remedies.

(Special to THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 8.—During the past seven years the University of Wisconsin has participated in four intercollegiate debates, of which five have been victories and nine defeats. Professor Rolfe L. Lyman, head of the forensic department, writing of this slump in an article on "Debating at Wisconsin" in the February issue of the Wisconsin Alumni magazine, proposes the following remedies:

"Hold the intercollegiate debate in February or March; choose the teams at least five months before the debate; do away with all formal coaching; if the same privileges are chosen except the same privileges; allow no closed by athletic coaches; no intercollegiate debates; limit participation for any man to one intercollegiate team; limit participation to undergraduates; make new contracts only under these or similar specifications."

Professor Lyman says that, as in football, luck plays a very important part in the winning of victories in debate.

Social Affairs in Washington's Honor

WASHINGTON'S birthday is becoming one of the days quite generally celebrated by social gatherings of various kinds. Whether one shall give a luncheon, a dinner, or an evening affair, depends of course, upon individual preference; but as to decorations, refreshments and amusements, they must naturally be somewhat similar.

The national colors can be used for decorations, or the colonial colors, buff and blue. It would scarcely seem Washington's birthday if the historic cherry tree and hatchet did not figure somewhere in the decorative scheme, no matter what sort of affair is being given.

Place cards in the form of shields decorated with the Washington coat of arms are a little change from the usual place cards of the day, and a hostess can make these herself, with Bristol board and a little water color paint, if she is at all deft.

Frozen custard should form some part of the refreshments if possible, as it was first served in America, it is said, at a reception given by Washington in Philadelphia.

The Game of Presidents affords an interesting way to pass part of the evening. Paper and pencils should be passed, and the following questions read by the hostess. A certain time is given to answer each question.

What President has borne the most and away to his inaugural rode?

Who first his oath of office took
In the open air so all could look?

Who, fearing much some dark surprise,
Went to his office in disguise?

Who first at Washington did swear
Our country's good should be his care?

What man to his inaugural hied
But one short month before he died?

What President took the oath of state
On some other than the usual date?

Who at his New York residence
Became one of our presidents?

Who was succeeded by the one
Whom he succeeded the next run?

What President to Quakerstown
To his inaugural came down?

The answers are: Thomas Jefferson, who rode on horseback to his inaugural; George Washington, who took the oath on the balcony in front of the Federal State House, N. Y., on April 30, 1789; President Madison; John Adams, who was inaugurated at Washington, March 4, 1797; Wm. H. Harrison, who was inaugurated March 4, 1841, and died April 4, 1841; President Monroe, who was sworn in on March 5, 1820; President Arthur, Grover Cleveland; George Washington, who came to Philadelphia for his second inauguration in 1793, and also John Adams.

Another clever amusement is to pass pencils and paper and ask each guest to suggest a noun, if of a patriotic nature the better. As each noun is given, the guests write them down on their papers. When each has contributed, the guests are then given a certain time to write a short story about Washington, introducing these nouns in the order in which they have been given. The names of Washington and any other historic person or event are permitted to be introduced, but otherwise no other nouns can be used, except those that have been contributed by the guests.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"A PITTSBURGH clergyman has recently notified his flock that henceforth he is going to marry no couples who cannot give probable evidence of an annual income of at least two thousand dollars."

I quote that interesting item from a contemporary publication. What do you think of it?

I'll tell you gladly what I think. I think it is one of the worst examples that I have yet seen of the foolish and harmful tendency prevalent just now—the tendency to advise young people to delay marriage until all material difficulties are smoothed away by plenty of money and material possessions.

I wonder if that minister realizes that the average American wage is about $3000. I wonder if he realizes that 67 per cent of American men do not get more than $1,000 a year.

What, pray, would he do with these men and the women they would naturally take to wife?

Would he condemn them to eternal singleness and keep their women's arms eternally empty and hungry, because their lovers could not give "probable evidence of an annual income of at least two thousand dollars?"

I believe that the tremendously high standard of material possessions necessary as a preliminary to marriage, which we are encouraging our children to raise, is doing vastly more harm than good.

The idea is good enough if we didn't carry it to such ridiculous excess. Every one knows that when the wolf is continually howling and scratching at the door, and even peering glumly in the windows, there isn't apt to be much blissing and cooing going on inside the home.

But, does it take two thousand a year to keep the wolf away from a young married couple's home?

Indeed it doesn't. Or, at any rate, shouldn't. Suppose I started to say no half that, but I suppose I ought not to be quite so definite. Circumstances alter cases, and whereas there are couples that might get along very comfortably on seven or eight hundred a year, there are others who require more than that. But I don't believe that any two people would survive on twelve hundred a year.

And anyhow, it seems to me that a reasonable amount saved up for a rainy day and good prospects of advancement, count for more than a large income to start with.

If all the harm that is done by long drawn out engagements and by the advanced age for marrying among men could be known, I think perhaps we should say less about having just so much to start with, and more about getting married at the time when nature wants men and women to marry.

What relation do you suppose the prolonging of bachelorhood to the age of thirty and thirty-five has with the social evil?

Of course, no one can know that exactly, but I'm sure of this—that if I had a son I'd rather see him marry at the age of twenty-two or three, on a thousand a year, than wait until he was thirty for two or three thousand.

Perhaps, Mr. Pittsburg minister, you were misquoted in your sweeping exclusion of all folks who couldn't qualify in the two thousand class from the state of matrimony.

For the honor of your cloth, I hope so.

Menu For Valentine Supper.—Suggestions for Decorations and Preparation.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

A small number of guests at a Valentine party may be seated at the table for refreshments but for a large number a buffet supper may be served.

The following menu will answer for either purpose:

Valentine Supper.

But pause a moment's space and heed A truth the reverend Saint imparts "When matrimony's here indeed, You can't subsist on sugar hearts."

Pink Cream Sandwiches

Lettuce Sandwiches

Hardies

Chicken Salad

Red Beet Hearts

Raspberry Sherbet Valentine Cake Stuffed Dates Sugar Hearts Coffee

For two or three years red has been used more than pink for valentine decorations but pink is more dainty and a pleasing change from the brilliant holiday colors. In decorating the table for a supper at home good taste declines to cover the cloth with trifles from the stationers or to make the table ridiculous with comic cards or otherwise. Pink or red cardboard hearts or arrows can be used for place cards and at this season carnations are so beautiful and so reasonable in price that they are more often chosen than any other flower.

The pink sandwich filling is merely the cream cheese that comes in tin foil, beaten smooth with enough of full rich jelly to give it the proper consistency. The flavor is as pleasing as the color. The white bread should be a day old and the sandwiches may be cut heart shape but it is a great waste when making a large number.

The more economical way is to trim the crust off neatly and cut across from corner to corner to make triangles. Or the lettuce sandwiches may be triangular and the pink kind cut in strips.

Use real cream for the oysters and a very small amount of mace in the seasoning. This will be very different from the ordinary white sauce. Use one cup of this cream, two level tablespoons of butter, one and one-half level teaspoons of flour and the seasonings. The addition of the yolk of one egg is an improvement. Add the oysters drained from their own liquor in which they are scalded and heat through in the sauce.

If it does not appear to be too much work use reheated timbals instead of the paper cases.

The finest sherbert that I ever tasted was served in a home where the preserves, jellies and canned fruits are prepared. The foundation of the sherbert was the juice drained from raspberries canned in currant juice. Nothing can be better than this combination of flavor, acid and color.

Heart shaped cake pans cost about fifty cents and small pans ten cents each. If much entertaining is done these pans are convenient for occasional use. Cover the cakes with pink icing; a white cake is usually chosen for a valentine cake. The cake may be set on a heart shaped board that extends three inches beyond it. Cover the board with smilax or asparagus and insert little candles in holes along the edge of the board after the fashion of a birthday cake.

Thought for Today

HOW AND WHEN TO DIET.

WHILE I advise all stout people, no matter how busy they may be, to take a certain amount of vigorous exercise, calling into play the whole body, and also in a degree watchful of the diet, lessening the amount and doing without one meal if they can; I do not advise those who are taxed to the limit with hard work, either of muscle or brain, to deliberately undertake the additional task of trying to reduce the weight. Exercise and supervision of the diet will contribute to their strength, keep them hard, make them feel better, and prevent further accumulation. It may reduce the weight, if so, well and good. But that is different from imposing a specific task when already overburdened.

But having leisure, or a vacation, no one need hesitate to set about securing a definite reduction in weight and be confident of improving the health as well as the appearance. The standard set should not be too difficult of attainment, and should have some relation to the weight. One who weighs 200 pounds can probably take off fifteen or twenty as safely and easily as one weighing 150 can remove ten or fifteen.

Having observed the weight for a period of time so as to determine about where it tends, set for yourself a reasonable standard of reduction—say ten pounds in three months. Having observed also for a period of time how much food you consume, make it the basis of a reduction in quantity and modification of the kind of food you eat. For example, if accustomed to eating soup, meat and dessert, either cut out one of these items or lessen the quantity of each; or omit potatoes or bread, or some one large factor, or subtract a third of each of these substances. Or you can leave out altogether one meal, for which you find you care least. But of course, care must be taken to eat more than the habitual amount at other meals.

Washington, D. C.—Lois Edmonds, aged eleven years, is receiving as much attention at the hands of public men as would a great statesman, during her brief visit here, for she is the prize bread maker of Iowa.

The recent contest, participated in by over 6,000 girls, she won the honor of making the best bread in the state. She is also one of the eleven best corn growers in Iowa.

She has been invited to go to the White House to demonstrate to President Taft and his cooks how to make good bread. Her friends declare that when the President cuts some of her corn she will declare her bread the best in the country.

NO ONE METHOD A CURE-ALL.

While I believe diet to be the most important factor in life, after thought, and therefore the most important factor (after thought) in maintaining and restoring health, yet diet is not a cure-all.

As there is no single means by which life is maintained, so there is no single means of maintaining health or of restoring it when it has been lost. I often hear people say, "I have tried drugs, and osteopathy, Christian Science (or suggestion) and electricity, the movement cure and the water cure, and none of them has done me any good, and now I am going to see what there is in dieting."

Such a speech indicates a narrow view of the work of the physician and a grave misunderstanding of the nature of health and healing. I have a large acquaintance among physicians and I don't know one who prescribes drugs and ignores dieting. The average doctor believes in using all means of cure, and especially diet, as supplemental to medicine.

No sane, literally educated physician who is successful in the practice of a specialty, finds it necessary to overestimate the relative importance of his specialty. It is the imperfectly informed person who claims for some one method of treatment, valuable in certain cases, the impossible virtue of a cure-all. The only way in which almost any therapeutic agent can cure almost any sickness is by becoming a means of suggestion. But let the mental condition be perfect yet withhold the right food and the patient must ultimately die. And suggestion need not be the basis of a cure to be a means of faith cure.

Is Woman's Beauty Only Skin Deep?

(Saturday Times)

You may have thought the old adage was a kind of a joke, but late developments show that it is literally true. It has been discovered that even the blottiest and muddiest complexions are merely masks that cover perfect pink and white skins which may be easily revealed. All that is necessary is to rub on ordinary pure colored balsam, the purifying and cleansing properties of which become active at once, and the outer skin quickly flecks off in tiny particles—then behold! there is the bright, young complexion of sweet sixteen. Any good drug-store keeps colored balsam, and also its sister, old-fashioned remedy, "thermolized jelly," which really has a wonderful effect in smoothing out wrinkles, filling hollows, etc., by drawing the flesh back again to its old time smoothness and healthy firmness. ## PROVISIONS OF LAW AS TO REGISTRATION

New Requirements Made by the Last Legislature Regarding Voters at General Elections.

Registration by proxy is not allowed under the new election laws. In the future all persons desiring to vote at a general election will have to register in person. Under the old system it was customary for booth officials to carry over to the new poll list practically all of the names appearing on the poll list last in use. In this way all persons who had previously voted were qualified to vote at the next election without registering.

The section of the election laws relating to registration follows:

"They shall put thereon the names of all persons residing in their election district appearing on the poll list kept at the last preceding general and municipal elections, and may take thereof, such lists from the office where kept, omitting therefrom the names of such as have died or removed from the district and adding the names of all persons known to them to be electors therein, except that at the meetings of the board of inspectors held immediately preceding the April election for the year 1911, in cities of the second, third and fourth classes, and villages and towns in which registry is required, such inspectors shall make a new registry of electors for such election, and no previous registry or registry list shall be copied or used in whole or in part in making the same, and no person's name shall be placed upon such registry unless the electors appear in person before the inspectors, and request that his name be registered. Such inspectors shall hold their first meeting on Monday and the following Tuesday
three weeks preceding such election, their second meeting on primary election day and the following Tuesday
preceding such election."

ROCK COUNTY LAND VALUES VERY HIGH

Figures Compiled for All Counties in State Show It to Be Well
Up on List.

That Rock county land is well up in value with land in other counties of the state is shown by a table compiled by P. A. Polleys, tax commissioner, for the St. Paul road, with headquarters at St. Paul.

Mr. Polleys' figures show the average value per acre of land in all the counties of the state in 1902, 1907 and 1912. His values for 1902 and 1907 were computed from land sales for an eight year period, ending in 1910.

Below are given Mr. Polleys' figures for Rock and some of the surrounding counties.

COUNTY—	1902	1907	1912
Rock	$66.33	$83.21	$ 97.04
Dane	60.43	77.56	97.00
Green	57.54	73.25	96.00
Jefferson	74.88	91.00	101.50
Kenosha	61.21	80.07	107.00
Walworth	77.26	95.18	126.00
Racine	63.18	83.84	114.00
Monroe	16.29	31.40	38.00

According to the figures Walworth county land is the highest priced in the state. This is probably accounted for by the fact that Big Foot prairie is contained in that county. The farms along this prairie are wonderfully rich and fertile. Burnett county land is listed at $150 an acre for 1912, this being the highest priced in the state, according to the figures.

"LA BELLE MARIE" IS TITLE OF NEW PLAY

Myers Stock Company Continues to Give Pleasing Productions
Each Night.

The Adelaida Dalton Stock Company at the Myers Theatre, will change their play tonight. "La Belle Marie," a comedy drama will be the offering for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with a special ladies' matinee
Saturday afternoon.

This play is full of good comedy
and well written dramatic situations, dealing with the revenge of a woman
on the man who has killed her father.
While not melodramatic, it is a strong intense play, full of action and excitement. The comedy element is especially strong and extremely funny.
Every member of this excellent company will be seen to advantage as the play is one of the best and most pleasing comedy dramas ever written.

Miss Dalton has a part which calls for clever acting as it demands the portrayal of all the emotions, blending tragedy, comedy and pathos.

Mr. Briggs plays the juvenile lead and Mr. Matthews the heavy, which by the way is a star part in which he can prove what a cunning villain he can be. Mr. Briggs assumes the comedy role of a tired office boy, and
Mr. Crowley that of an up to date Yankee salesman. The other parts are all of the comedy order.

This play should prove a great drawing power as it will appeal to every class of theatre goers.

DOCTORS GAVE HER UP

Mrs. Stuart Finally Saved By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Her Story Interesting.

Elmo, Mo.—"I think your Vegetable Compound is wonderful for it has helped me. I had four doctors and they said I had female troubles and a tumor and nothing but an operation would help me. I could not sit still long enough to eat, and could sleep hardly any I was in so much misery with pains in my side and back.

"A year ago last spring my doctor gave me up, and he was surprised to see me this spring and to see my condition. I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise wherever I go for I know I would not be here today or have my fine baby boy if I had not taken it."

The Best Cough Syrup is Easily Made at Home

Cuts Little and Acts Quickly. Money Refunded if it Fails.

This recipe makes a pint of cough syrup, and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It cures obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—in a hurry, and is splendid for sore lungs, asthma, croup, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Phlox (fifty cents a bottle) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Phlox, as perhaps you know, is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gum resin and the other natural healing Phlox constituents.

No other preparation will do the work of Phlox in this recipe, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Phlox and Sugar Syrup recipe. This plan has often been initiated, but the old-fashioned formula has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Phlox, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Phlox Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

"We were accompanied by a music which I do not know; it was behind the wall and wonderfully accurate. The voice seemed to understand mine exactly, to know precisely where my father had left off teaching me. In a few weeks' time, I hardly knew myself when I sang. I was even frightened. I seemed to dread a sort of witchcraft behind it; but Mamma Valerius reassured me. She said that she knew I was much too simple a girl to give the devil a hold on me. . . . My progress, by the voice's own order, was kept a secret between the voice, Mamma Valerius and myself. It was a curious thing, but, outside the dressing-room, I sang with my ordinary, every-day voice and nobody noticed anything. I told all that the voice asked. It said, 'Wait and see; we shall astonish Paris!' And I waited and lived on in a sort of ecstatic dream. It was then that I saw you for the first time one evening, in the house. I was so glad that I never thought of concealing my delight when I reached my dressing-room. Unfortunately, the voice was there before me and soon noticed, by my air, that something had happened. It asked what was the matter and I gave no reason for keeping our story secret or concealing the place which you filled in my heart. Then the voice was silent. I called to it, but it did not reply; I begged and entreated, but in vain. I was terrified lest it had gone for good. I wish to heaven it had, dear! . . . That night, I went home in a desperate condition. I told Mamma Valerius, who said, 'Why, of course, the voice is jealous!' And that, dear, first revealed to me that I loved you."

Christine stopped and laid her head on Raoul's shoulder. They sat like that for a moment, in silence, and they did not see, did not perceive the movement, at a few steps from them, of the creeping shadow of two great black wings, a shadow that came along the roof so near, so near them that it could have stifled them by closing over them.

"The next day," Christine continued, with a sigh, "I went back to my dressing-room in a very pensive frame of mind. The voice was there, spoken to me with great sadness and told me plainly that, if I must bestow my heart on earth, there was nothing for the voice to do but to go back to heaven. And it said this with such an accent of human sorrow that I ought then and there to have suspected and begun to believe that I was the victim of my deluded senses, but my faith in the voice, with which the memory of my father was so closely intermingled, remained undisturbed. I feared nothing so much as that I might never hear it again; I had thought about my love for you and realized all the useless danger of it; and I did not even know if you remembered me. Whatever happened, your position in society forbade me to contemplate the possibility of ever marrying you; and I swore to the voice that you were no more than a brother to me nor ever would be and that my heart was incapable of any earthly love. And that, dear, was why I refused to recognize or see you when I met you on the stage or in the passages. Meanwhile, the hours during which the voice taught me were spent in a divine frenzy, until, at last, the voice said to me, 'You can now, Christine Daae, give to men a little of the music of heaven.' I don't know how it was that Carlotta did not come to the theater that night nor why I was called upon to sing in her stead; but I sang with a rapture I had never known before and I felt for a moment as if my soul were leaving my body!"

"Oh, Christine," said Raoul, "my heart quivered that night at every accent of your voice. I saw the tears stream down your cheeks and I wept with you. How could you sing, sing like that while crying?"

"I felt myself fainting," said Christine. "I closed my eyes. When I opened them, you were by my side. But the voice was there also, Raoul! I was afraid for your sake and again I would not recognize you and began to laugh when you reminded me that you had picked up my scarf in the sea! . . . Alas, there is no deceiving the voice! . . . The voice recognized you and the voice was jealous! . . . It said that, if I did not love you, I would not avoid you, but treat you like any other old friend. It made me scarce upon scenes. At last, I said to the voice, 'That will do! I am going to Paris tomorrow, to pray on my father's grave, and I shall ask M. Raoul de Chagny to go with me.' 'Do as you please,' replied the voice, 'but I shall be at Paris too, for I am wherever you are, Christine; and, if you are still worthy of me, if you have not lied to me, I will play you The Resurrection of Lazarus, on the stroke of midnight, on your father's tomb and on your father's violin.' That, dear, was how I came to write you the letter that brought you to Paris. How could I have been so beguiled? How was it, when I saw the person, the selfish point of view of the voice, that I did not suspect some impostor? Alas, I was no longer mistress of myself; I had become his thing!"

"But, after all," cried Raoul, "you soon came to know the truth! Why did you not at once rid yourself of that abominable nightmare?"

"Know the truth, Raoul? Rid myself of that nightmare? But, my poor boy, I was not caught in the nightmare until the day when I learned the truth! . . . Pity me, Raoul, pity me! . . . You remember the terrible evening when Carlotta thought that she had been turned into a toad on the stage and the house was suddenly plunged in darkness through the chandelier crashing to the floor? There were killed and wounded that night and the whole theater rang with terrified screams. My first thought was for you and the voice. I was at once easy, where you were concerned, for I had seen you in your brother's box and I knew that you were not in danger. But the voice had told me that it would be at the performance and I was really afraid for it, just as if it had been an ordinary person who was capable of dying. I thought to myself, 'The chandelier may have come down upon the voice.' I was then on the stage and was nearly running into the house, to look for the voice among the killed and wounded, when I thought that, if the voice was safe, it would be sure to be in my dressing-room and I rushed to my room. The voice was not there. I locked my door and, with tears in my eyes, besought it, if it were still alive, to manifest itself to me. The voice did not reply, but suddenly I heard a long, beautiful wail which I knew well. It is the plaint of Lazarus, when, at the sound of the Redeemer's voice, he begins to open his eyes and see the light of day. It was the music which you and I, Raoul, heard at Paris. And then the voice began to sing the leading phrase, 'Come! And believe in me! Whoso believes in me shall live! Wail! Whoso hath believed in me shall never die! . . . I cannot tell you the effect which that music had upon me. It seemed to command me, personally, to come, to stand up and come to it. It retreated and I followed. 'Come! And believe in me!' I believed in it, I came. . . . I came and—this was the extraordinary thing—my dressing-room, as I moved, seemed to lengthen out ing-room. I was in a dark passage, I was frightened and I cried out. It was quite dark, but for a faint red glimmer at a distant corner of the wall. I cried out. My voice was the only sound, for the singing and the violin had stopped. And, suddenly, a hand was laid on mine. . . . or rather a stone-cold, bony thing that seized my wrist and did not let go. I cried out again. An arm took me round the waist and supported me. I struggled for a little while and then gave up the attempt. I was dragged toward the little red light and then I saw that I was in the hands of a man wrapped in a large cloak and wearing a mask that hid his whole face. I made one last effort; my limbs stiffened, my mouth opened to scream, but a hand closed it, a hand which I felt on my lips, on my skin. . . . a hand that smelt of death. Then I fainted away.

"When I opened my eyes, we were still surrounded by darkness. A lantern, standing on the ground, showed a bubbling well. The water splashing from the well disappeared, almost at once, under the floor on which I was lying, with my head on the knee of the man in the black cloak and the black mask. He was bathing my temples and his hands smelt of death. I tried to push them away and asked, 'Who are you? Where is the voice?' His only answer was a sigh. Suddenly, a hot breath passed over my face and I perceived a white shape, beside the man's black shape, in the darkness. The black shape lifted me on to the white shape, a kind neighborly greeting my astounded ears and I murmured, 'Cease!' The animal quivered. Raoul, I was lying half back on a saddle and I had recognized the white horse out of the Profeta, which I had so often fed with sugar and sweets. I remembered that, one evening, there was a rumor in the theater that the horse had disappeared and that it had been stolen by the opera ghost. I believed in the voice, but had never believed in the ghost. Now, however, I began to wonder, with a shiver, whether I was the ghost's prisoner. I called upon the voice to help me, for I should never have imagined that the voice and the ghost were one. You have heard about the opera ghost, have you not, Raoul?"

"Yes, but tell me what happened

when you were on the white horse of the Profeta?"

"I made no movement and let myself go. The black shape held me up, and I made no effort to escape. A curious feeling of peacefulness came over me and I thought that I must be under the influence of some curdled milk. I had the full command of my senses; and my eyes became used to the darkness, which was lit; here and there, by faint glimmers. I calculated that we were in a narrow circular gallery, probably running all round the opera, which is immense, underground. I had once been down into those cellars, but had stopped at the third floor, though there were two lower still, large enough to hold a town. But the figures of which I caught sight had made me run away. There are demons down there, quite black, standing in front of boilers, and they wield shovels and pitchforks and poke up fires and stir up flames, and if you come too near them, they frighten you by suddenly opening the red mouths of their furnaces. . . . Well, while Cesar was quietly carrying me on his back, I saw those black demons in the distance, looking quite small, in front of the red fires of their furnaces; they came into sight, disappeared and came into sight again, as we went on our winding way. At last, they disappeared altogether. The shape was still holding me up and Cesar walked on, unaided and sure-footed. I could not tell you, even approximately, how long this ride lasted; I only know that we seemed to turn and turn and often went down a spiral stair into the very heart of the earth. Even then, it may be that my head was turning, but I don't think so; no, my mind was quite clear. At last, Cesar raised his nostrils, sniffed the air and quickened his pace a little. I felt a moistness in the air and Cesar stopped. The darkness had lifted. A sort of blue light surrounded us. We were on the edge of a lake, whose leaden waters stretched into the distance, into the darkness; but the blue light lit up the bank and I saw a little boat fastened to an iron ring on the wharf!"

"A boat!"

"Yes, but I know that all that existed and that there was nothing supernatural about that underground lake and boat. But think of the exceptional conditions in which I arrived upon that shore! I don't know whether the effects of the curdled milk worn off when the man's shape lifted me into the boat, but my terror began all over again. My gruesome escort must have noticed it, for he sent Cesar back and I heard his hoofs trampling up a staircase while the man jumped into the boat, untied the rope that held it and seized the oars. He rowed with a quick, powerful stroke; and his eyes, under the mask, never left me. We slipped across the noiseless water in the blue light which I told you of; then we were in the dark again and we touched shore. And I was once more taken up in the man's arms. I cried aloud. And then, suddenly, I was silent, dazed by the light. . . . Yes, a dazzling light in the midst of which I had been put down. I sprang to my feet. I was in the middle of a drawing-room that seemed to me to be decorated, adorned and furnished with nothing but flowers, flowers both magnificent and stupid, because of the silk ribbons that tied them to baskets, like those which they sell in the shops on the boulevards. They were most too civilized flowers, like those which I used to find in my dressing-room after a first night. And, in the midst of all these flowers, stood the black shape of the man in the mask, with arms crossed, and he said: 'Don't be afraid, Christine; you are in no danger.' It was the voice!

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this: Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

WAS GENERAL HULL A COWARD?

By A. W. MACY.

A gallant officer, taking part in nine great battles; at one time leading a desperate charge in which half his followers were killed; twice promoted for bravery; commended by his superior officers, including Washington, and publicly thanked by congress—such was the record of General William Hull at the close of the Revolutionary war. Branded as a coward; accused of being a traitor; almost universally censured; tried by court-martial and sentenced to be shot—such was his record at the close of the War of 1812. It is a sad story. As commander of the army of the Northwest he surrendered the fort at Detroit without firing a gun, when every one expected him to make a gallant defense. The indignation was intense. He claimed that the fall of the fort was inevitable, and that in surrendering it when he did he saved hundreds of lives. The president pardoned him in consideration of his age and his past services. For many years the feeling against him was very bitter, but historians now generally agree that while he surrendered with unsoldierly alacrity, the odds were greatly against him, and the blame must rest as much with the administration as with him.

SICKLY CHILD

Made Well By Vinol—Letters from a Grateful Mother

New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl, over since her birth, was frail and sickly and nothing seemed to do her any good until we tried your cod liver oil and iron tonic, Vinol. As soon as she commenced to take it, I noticed an improvement in her health and appearance. She has now taken three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done her I can say it will do all you claim for it in building up and strengthening frail and delicate children." (Name furnished on request.)

Another mother of Chicago, Ill., writes: "I can not say too much in praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children."

We ask every mother of a frail, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it does not do all we claim.

How Virginia Town Got Its Name.
Front Royal is the name of a town in Warren county, Va. At first it bore the title "Royal Oak," because of an immense tree upon its common. One day the colonel of militia became confused while drilling his troops and gave his regiment the queer command, "Front the Royal!" Such is the origin of the modern name given in a bulletin of the geological survey.

Never.

If all women were beautiful; and none of them ever grew old; a married man's wife would never insist on taking him out to spend the evening anywhere.

"Usin' Tiz Gramma?"

"Yes, Harold, It Makes Grandma's Feet Feel Just Like Yours, Free from Tiredness, Aches and Corns!"

"Your papa and mamma, your grandpa and your grandma all use TIZ, Harold. And you'll use it, too, when you get to be a man. You won't feel any more tired, or get tired. That's why we all use TIZ."

Most of us get old, feet first. The bunions get a little more troublesome and painful. Corns get harder and more stubborn as the feet become more tender. At a time when old people need their feet most, they can not then less—unless they use TIZ.

If you have never used TIZ before, your first use of it will bring back some of your childhood days. TIZ will make your feet feel young, strong and vigorous. They'll never be tender, never chafe or ache, never get blistered or swollen, and your corns, bunions and calluses will be no more. Nothing will do it of can do it like TIZ. Don't experiment with other things; other people have done that for you and they are all now using TIZ.

TIZ acts on a new principle—draws out all the poisonous excretions that make feet trouble.

THE GOAT.

(By Howard L. Ramm.)

As generally understood, the goat is a domestic animal with a high forehead and a lower lip which recedes faster than an unbalanced mind into the wrong berth. There are several kinds of goats, but the most popular is the lodge goat. This is a playful and easy-going animal, whose mission is to throw the lodge membership into convulsions and the candidate into the hardwood furniture in the room. After a man has ridden this goat once and escaped without being teleported to such an extent that he can't tell the grand hall sign of distress from the cable tow, he will never have to fight off an attack of senility with a stout heart and spirits of ammonia. Another popular species of goat is the man who invites a party of friends to his home in the absence of his wife and acts as a butler in a poker game. This world is full of goats who are continually buying 15-cent drinks for somebody who happens to be broke. The four-legged goat is one of the most sociable beings in existence. One might almost say that he is a large, masculine goat, which was of a very ingenuous nature, was entertaining a life insurance agent one day and was about to inhale the contents of a $5,000 policy when the goat entered the room unexpectedly and butted the insurance agent through a glass case containing a costly beeswax floral design. It afterward turned out that the goat had taken a dislike to the agent. On another occasion this same goat disturbed a protracted meeting by pushing a lifelong member of the church through a hard pine pew, thereby ruining his composure and a bright new pair of cuffs. The goat died soon after of rigor mortis superinduced by a shotgun. The man who places his confidence in a goat which is full of play and animal spirits will have his trust shattered after he has been snatched from a gooseberry bush a few times by kind and sympathetic hands.

Keep constantly at it, Mr. Adventurer, and you will build a steady consistent business.

The Post Philosopher

Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON

He's fond of saying cawlike things. Some little witty jest that stinks is always springing from his lips, and cynicism some man from them trips; he has a crooked, little sneer for everything that you hold dear. He's so astonishingly smart! Religion, marriage, home life, art—whatever you mention brings a quip that chills the words upon your lip. So we avoid this clever goat whose polished sayings leave a dent, and crowd around the joyous youth who, though uncultured and uncouth, believes in life, believes in man, and loves the good old mundane plan. The cynic goes his way alone, like some cross dog that makes a lone. When he's alive none like his jokes, no body mourns him when he croaks. I'd rather have my neighbors say that I'm a stupid sort of jay than with cleverness renown by jeering at the folks in town.

Purists Up In Arms.
The purists are now objecting to the use of such modern terms as "drummer" for commercial traveler, "sleepor" for sleeping car, "hard up," "on the go" and so on. They also oppose the phrase, "an awfully pretty girl" on the ground that beauty never produces awe in the beholder.
